

Call for Applications for Two Tenure-Track Faculty Positions (All Ranks*)
The Bob Shapell School of Social Work, Academic Year 2027–2028
Tel Aviv University, Israel

The two positions are full-time (100%) tenure-track appointments. Employment will begin in the 2027–2028 academic year, on October 1, 2027.

Prerequisites:

1. A Ph.D., together with a Bachelor of Social Work (BSW) and/or Master of Social Work (MSW), with an expertise in one or more areas of social work practice, particularly rehabilitation, disabilities, environmental social work, human rights, and artificial intelligence in welfare services.

Or:

A Ph.D. in a field closely related to the social issues and challenges addressed by social work, in one or more of the areas listed above.

2. At least one year of postdoctoral training abroad, when the doctoral degree was completed in Israel.

Required Capabilities:

1. Conducting high-quality research and publishing it in journals ranked in the top quartiles of the relevant fields, or on other platforms recognized for research excellence in the candidate's areas of expertise.
2. Supervising graduate research students.
3. Teaching in Hebrew and English, in both small and large classes, at the bachelor's, master's, and doctoral levels.
4. A commitment to scientific and social leadership and to influencing the development of welfare services and public policy in the candidate's field.
5. Securing research funding from competitive research foundations.

Candidates will be evaluated according to these criteria and the relevance of their area of expertise (research and teaching) to the School's needs. Appointment procedures will be conducted in accordance with Tel Aviv University's appointment regulations, subject to approval by the relevant academic bodies and at their discretion. Academic rank will be determined according to the candidate's qualifications.

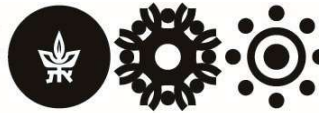

Applications should include:
